Dear friends,

Over the past 9 years, we have been hosting Vivacello - cello music festival in Moscow. So far the festival has become a landmark event for Moscow cultural scene, bringing together thousands of classical music lovers on a yearly basis to appreciate the artistry of outstanding musicians from around the world.

Any serious business, any long journey starts with the first steps, that were rather hard to make in 2008. We really lacked support back then, in order to invite first-rate performers and to host the event at a high level. Anton Abugov was the first person to lend his support to this endeavor, placing some confidence in our initiative. Thanks to the funds, granted for the inaugural edition of the festival in commemoration of Mstislav Rostropovich, we have managed to invite such internationally acclaimed names in classical music, as composers Rodion Shchedrin and Krzysztof Penderecki, the legendary Ensemble of 12 cellists of the Berlin Philharmonic, as well as famous cellists David Geringas, Giovanni Sollima among others.

The support rendered by Foundation A allowed our festival to immediately push on to the next level, making possible further development and creative tasks realization.

Sincerely yours,
Art director of Vivacello Festival,
Boris Andrianov
